

PRESS RELEASE

Shakespeare's ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL

Touring Rural South West England
30 July - 15 August

After the rip-roaring success of Twelfth Night, Troubadour Stageworks is back and bigger than ever with this summer's outdoor tribute to the bard!

All's Well That Ends Well is a love story that just can't seem to go quite right. One-sided affection, kidnapping, disguise, this play has it all. Grab a picnic, grab a bubble and join us in the gardens of rural South West England for this rollicking Shakespeare comedy.

This is an outdoor performance. We recommend that you bring blankets/chairs/cushions etc. and are welcome to bring a picnic. Come prepared for the weather with warm coats and waterproofs etc, as the performance will continue come rain come shine! We ask that you don't bring umbrellas as these can obscure the view for other people in the audience.

Troubadour Stageworks was founded in 2017 with the aim of creating a stage in any space, and in so doing, supporting heritage venues and enabling emerging creatives to make exciting new theatre. Our Shakespeare shows are known for their original music, creative adaptations and unusual staging.

Praise for 2020's Twelfth Night:

"It was one of the most enjoyable open air Shakespeares I have ever been to (and I have been to dozens!)... Such a joy in this otherwise 'midsummer madness!'"

"Thank you so much for putting on such an enjoyable evening... the love for what you are doing shone through and was hugely inspirational."

"The performance and production was a joy and delight... My hearing is not what it used to be, but I heard every single word and none of it was forced."
